NOTE: The increase in the number of party changes reflects an update to how the Department processes Automatic Voter Registration (AVR) transactions. Prior to this change, when individuals who had been previously registered undertake a transaction at DMV that triggers their inclusion in the AVR process, these individual's party affiliation was listed as "Other", based on how they could be processed in the voter registration system. These individuals remained eligible to affiliate with a party through the date of the first primary election following the individual's registration via AVR. With this change, these individuals' party affiliation is also now listed as "No Party-AVR", as is the case with those individuals not previously registered who complete a transaction at DMV that triggers their inclusion in the AVR process. These individuals are also eligible to affiliate with a party through the first primary election via their registration via AVR.
