

Delaware's New District Lookup Tool!

The Department of Elections is happy to introduce a new, GIS-based lookup tool to identify elected officials and district boundaries for any Delaware address.

An individual may click on a particular location or address on a map of the state, or enter any address in Delaware in a search bar and receive detailed information for that location, including a full listing of elected officials from the federal to the local level, school board and school board nominating districts, and a display of all elective office district boundaries for the various elective office districts for that address.

The tool also provides a link to the website of the various governmental bodies for quick access to additional information. The tool may be accessed on the Department of Elections website at: <https://elections.delaware.gov>, clicking on "Find District Information" under "How do I?" or by visiting: <https://gis.elections.delaware.gov>.

NOTE: The lookup tool does not provide information on voter registration status. Please visit: <https://ivote.de.gov> to check the status of or to update voter registration information.
